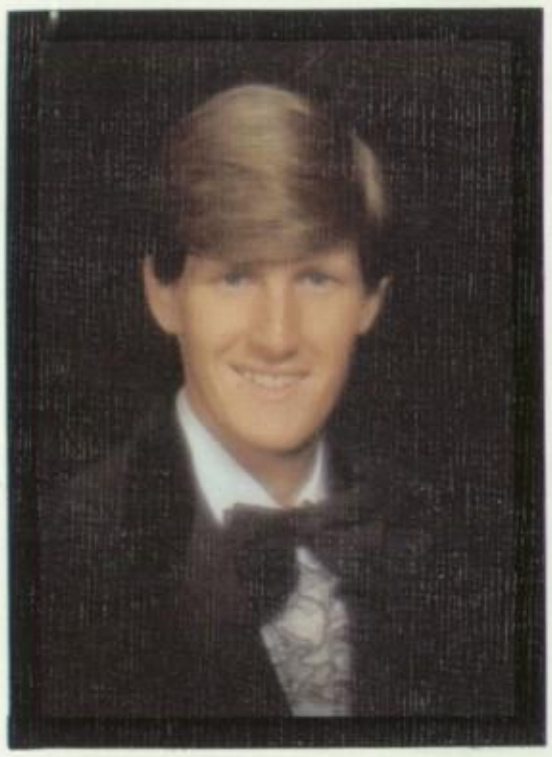
In Memoriam

Not 'til the loom is silent
And the shuttles cease to fly,
Will God unfold the pattern,
And explain the reason why.

The dark threads were as needful,
In the weaver's skillful hand,
As the threads of gold and silver,
In the pattern that He planned.



Rick Daunais

1965-1982

I would not have you grieve for me today
Nor weep beside my vacant chair;
Could you but know my daily portion here
You would not, could not, wish me there.

Nicholson

Ooo Lala ...

Mr. E.T.'s class.

This is not x-rated.

Hello, big boy.

Umm, cute!

I got both of them.

Happy homemaker.

I'm ready.

A Tribute to the Class of '83

It all started in '79;
Dressed up sharp and looking fine,
Sorry little freshmen everybody said;
We knew better, we just turned our heads.

Then the sophomore year arrived;
Against the seniors, we still felt deprived.
We knew our day would eventually come,
To tease the lower class and have some fun.

Before we knew it, it was our junior year;
We knew our day was almost here.
We made good grades so we could pass,
Just to make it to the senior class.

Now the time has finally come;
When we can say we're number one.
We worked real hard to get up here;
We earned our way to this senior year.

Now some advice from us to you;
There's only one thing that you can do.
Just wait your turn—your time will come;
When you can say you're number one.

Remember all things that you have heard;
And let us leave you with these words.
OUT OF ALL THE CLASSES THAT WILL EVER BE:
THERE WILL NEVER BE ONE LIKE '83!!!

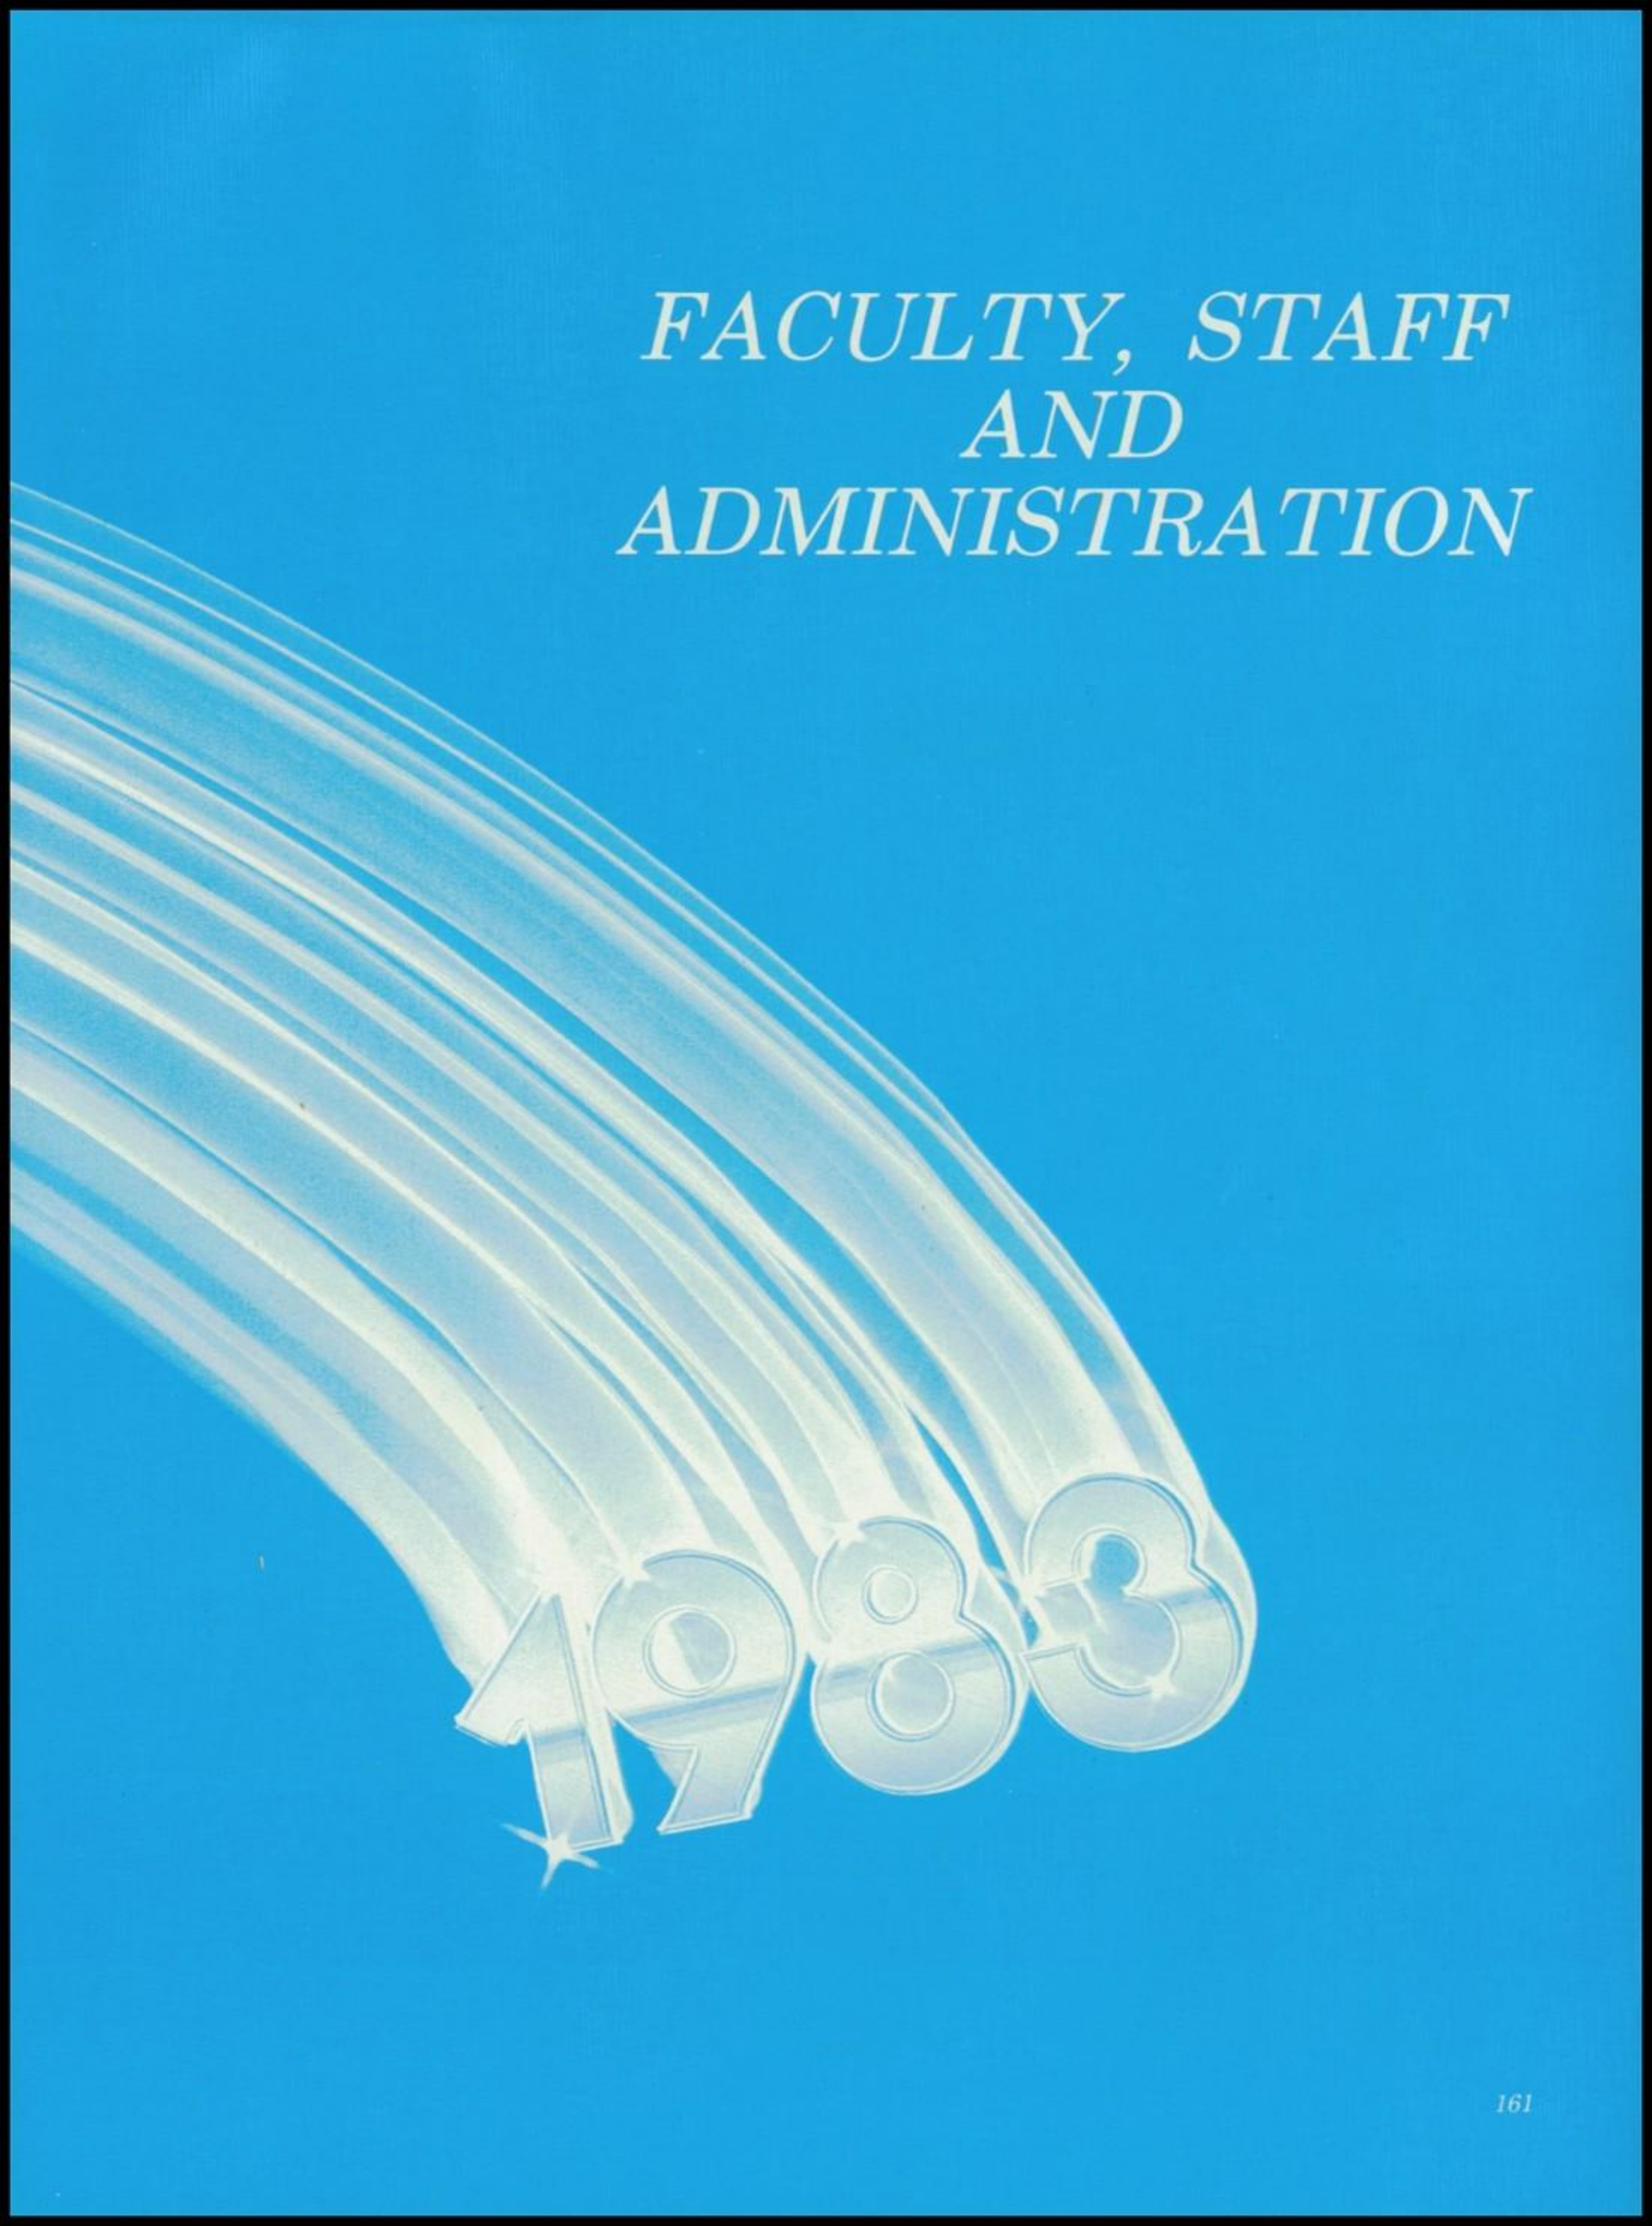
Freshmen Bid Seniors Adieu!

FACULTY, STAFF AND ADMINISTRATION



The Leader of the Rams

At the head of an educational institution is its leader. It is he who sets the tone, prescribes the standards, and challenges the minds of students. Our principal, Dr. Norman Shearin, exemplifies these traits and others. He has guided the progress and development of Twin Lakes with keen insight, tolerance, and efficiency. His wide knowledge, varied talents, and genuine sympathetic understanding for human needs help him to inspire students to work harder and develop their abilities to the greatest extent.

Dr. Shearin is an educator who makes learning a pleasure; we are glad to have him as our friend, our advisor, and our most capable leader.

Dr. Shearin enjoys breakfast with seniors.

One of Dr. Shearin's serious notes

Second in Command

Our assistant principals, Mr. Charles Heninger, Mr. Glenn Heyward, Mr. James Johnson, and Mr. Paul Williams, work with administration, faculty, staff and students to coordinate unity in the school. Much of their time is spent trying to formulate, expand, and improve the curriculum at Twin Lakes. They are responsible for directing activities and arranging the schedule for the entire school. The smooth operation of Twin Lakes can be credited to our Second Commanders.

Charles A. Heninger
B.S., M.A., Purdue Univ. Director of Student Activities

Glenn J. Heyward

James E. Johnson
B.S., Fla. A&M Univ., M.A. Fla. A&M Univ.

Paul Williams

Mr. Heninger always catches the skippers.

Mr. Williams can't believe his eyes.

Mr. Heyward speaks with a friendly parent.

Deed Collectors

Cheerfully and faithfully, our deans attend to the many needs of students at Twin Lakes. It is their responsibility to know where each student is during every hour of the school day to insure that no one turns up "missing".

Our deans are truly the bond between the school and home. Accidents, absentees, illnesses, personal problems, and conferences fit into our deans' normal schedule which keeps them racing from "eight to late" each day.

Lillie B. Drayton
B.S., Howard University, M.S., Fla. Atlantic Univ.

Willie J. Irvin

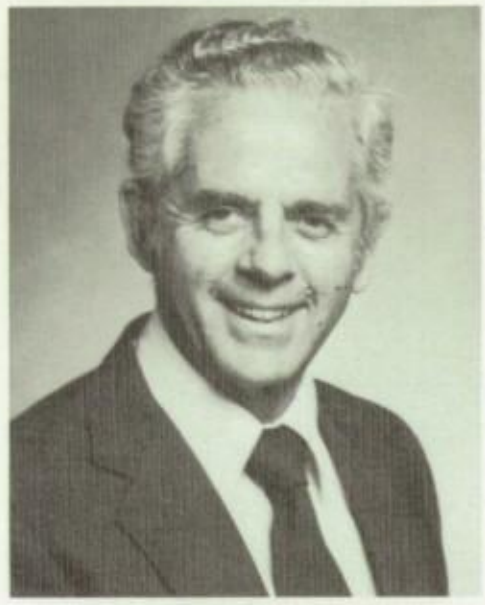
Helen M. Sheffield
B.S., East Tenn. State Univ.
M.A., East Tenn. State Univ.



James W. Westbrook
B.S., Appalachian State Univ.
M.Ed., University of Miss.

Mr. Westbrook always has a smile.

Mr. Irvin says, "Come on in and have a seat."

Future Advisors

Our guidance counselors perform their duties with enthusiasm and skill. They are directly concerned with helping students find professions and vocations that will help them take their place in our complex society. Students look to them for advice that will help them to meet the necessary requirements for graduation, and advice that will acquaint them with financial programs for advanced education.

Jimmie James
B.S. Hampton Institute, M.A., Michigan State Univ.

Barbara Porcher

Aleen H. Wilbourne

"This in the nineteenth form today", thought Mr. James.

"Sure you're going to class," agrees Ms. Robbins.

Ms. Porcher is out meeting new friends.

Unsung Heroines

Our Clerical Staff is very dedicated and efficient. This very capable group is responsible for all of the paper work that is necessary in the effective operation of a large school. The secretaries' duties include financial reports, students' reports and records, employees' payroll, reports to parents, etc. This is one of the busiest staffs on campus.

Media Experts

The Media Center Staff has two very important functions. The first, and most important, is to support the curriculum. The second is to provide resources for the individual student's personal interests. Many people consider the media center the hub of the school, where pertinent materials such as books, filmstrips, tapes and records, periodicals and other educational materials are made readily available. In line with these aims, the staff is dedicated to serving the students and faculty of Twin Lakes High School.

Business Leaders

The teachers in the Business Education Department have been successful in providing excellent terminal education for students whether they desire to begin work immediately after graduation, or whether they desire to pursue a college degree in various business fields. One of the basic fundamentals of the department is to help students gain skills that will aid them in their work.

Literary Specialists

The English teachers offer the students a very extensive program in the basic skills of reading, writing, and listening. In addition to teaching the courses required for average students, there are honor courses that provide intensive training in reading comprehension and writing skills.

Reading is available to students who have problems and for students who want to become speed readers. Other electives that are offered to meet the needs and interests of the students include the debate center, drama workshop, photography darkroom, mass media video workshop, and the journalism and publications rooms.

Music Professors

Virginia Carpenter

Dwayne Earnhardt
Music (Band Director), Tri-M, Scholarships and Awards

Music is a very essential part of our curriculum at Twin Lakes. The teachers are instrumental in providing the best musical experiences possible. Courses for beginners, as well as advanced students, are offered. Emphasis is placed on voice control, and on the correct method of playing and holding an instrument. Through long guided practice sessions, students develop skills and enjoy their work.

Math Whizzes

The teachers in the Math Department try to provide a variety of courses in attempting to fulfill the needs of each pupil. Students have an opportunity to increase their knowledge ranging from basic fundamentals to advanced placement for college preparation.

Time Recorders

Our Social Studies Department guides students in examining the American way of life and the world scene, past and present. Discussions, debates, and research projects give each pupil the opportunity to express his view and to investigate areas of personal concern or interest. The teachers create a great desire in students to think critically and to reason deductively about issues that surround them today, so that they will be able to cope with those which they will face tomorrow.

In this, the space age, science is stressed more than ever. Teachers provide students with a wide range of classes especially suited to meet the demands of those who are scientifically oriented, as well as the demands of those who want to study the basis of life through a general biology course.

Teachers and students perform many laboratory experiments. Interesting activities such as dissecting animals and classifying plants are scheduled.

Language Wizards

Foreign Language is a great asset to the college-bound student, and to any other student who wishes to discover the challenge of pronouncing, speaking, reading, and writing in a foreign language.

The teachers try to help students develop ease and accuracy in pronounciation, and they try to help them maintain a foreign vocabulary. Students are encouraged to attain a greater understanding and appreciation for the cultures and ideas of people in other countries.

Human Relations Bridges the Gap

The Purpose of the Human Relations Organization is to serve as the coordinating body for the students at T.L., and provide activities that will open lines of communication among the various role groups in the school settings. Human Relation's slogan follows.

The symbolism of the key board is:

You can play some kind of tune by using only black notes, you can play some kind of tune by using only white notes; but if you are to produce a real tune and real harmony, you must use the black and white notes.

It involves much determination whether the boys' outstanding skill is throwing the discus, jumping the hurdles, or running the half mile. Many hours are spent perfecting this talent and much will-power is required to stick with the training. Because the team members possessed the necessary attributes of outstanding trackmen, 1983 proved to be a typical winning season for the Rams.
